A resident of Sayville, Carl Johnson, for whom Johnson Avenue is named, died during the attacks on Pearl Harbor. In 1991, on the 50th anniversary of the attacks, Councilman Bodkin had the memorial constructed in Johnson's honor.
